

Rulings regarding adultery

In the verses of Sura Bani Israel, Allah the Almighty has mentioned several commandments that lays the foundation of better family and societal life. The basic aim of Islamic commandments is safeguard the life, respect and self-esteem of a person. That is why Allah the Almighty has discussed the rulings regarding adultery in great detail at several places in the Quran.

وَلَا تَقْرَبُوا الزَّوْجَ إِنَّهُ كَانَ فَاحِشَةً وَسَاءَ سَبِيلًا

اور تم زنا (بدکاری) کے قریب بھی مت جانا بیشک یہ بے حیائی کا کام ہے، اور بہت ہی بری راہ ہے

And do not even go near unlawful sex (adultery). Verily it is an act of lewdness and is the most evil way.<sup>1</sup>

In this verse Allah the Almighty has stated clearly that one should refrain this sin at every cost. Rather it is guided to leave every act that can lead towards that particular sin. The details of this verse has been mentioned in the Sura al-Nisa 14-20 & Sura al-Noor 1-5.<sup>2</sup> Allah the Almighty has guided a very tough criteria in these verses to establish the reality of sin and implication of punishment. So that no one can accuse anyone falsely. Either there should be the testimony of 4 mature Muslim persons or one should confess his sin 4 times publically. The punishments regarding this particular sin and accusing someone falsely are very strict to establish deterrence.<sup>3</sup> This is the only way to maintain law and order in the society. This is really important to stop extra marital affairs and any illegal act with children. The government should perform his duty and make every effort to find out the culprits and establish punishment publically. God forbid, if something like this happens to anyone he/she will want revenge at any cost and severe punishment. A penalty of this status can satisfy anyone and save the society from misdeeds. Implementation of law is the only solution of all the problems of society.
